

PRESS RELEASE

Amsterdam, March 2019

Academie Artemis goes Milan Design Week!

AMSTERDAM - Academie Artemis will be exhibiting at Milan Design Week for the second time. Following a successful exhibition at Dutch Design Week 2018 in Eindhoven, the academy has been invited by the organization Ventura Future to give a presentation together with alumni at BASE Milano (part of Tortona Design Week), a cultural project aimed at promoting innovation, life-long learning and cross contamination in the creative industries. With its prominent position, situated in via Tortona, one of the most reknown design districts in Milan, BASE is the right place for Academie Artemis and Ventura Future 2019.

Tortona will once again be the spot where design lovers from all over the world will gather in a creative, innovative and unconstrained setting to indulge in everything under the sun in the world of design.

GRADUATES 2018

During Milan Design Week, five Academie Artemis alumni will provide a visual interpretation of the most important developments in society, and show how these can translate to innovative and applicable solutions. Oscar Aliev, Luka Balm, Evita Ellis, Perla Lette and Elena van Essen – Vrysiotou will all present their personal views on what is relevant for the future of fashion design, interior, media and society as a whole.
